Greetings,

It seems like only a few weeks ago that we had our fall recruiting drive and suddenly the summer is upon us. The final weeks of school brings with it several performances that wrap up two semesters worth of dedication for Rhythm Project ensembles throughout the region. Please support our ensembles during the performances listed on the right and be sure to catch the All Stars throughout the summer. While we are excited and look forward to the warm months ahead, it is also important to take a look back at our accomplishments this past year.

The 2012-2013 academic year was quite a successful one, with more than 140 students being impacted by the Rhythm Project in Norfolk, Portsmouth, Virginia Beach and York County. Our eight ensembles will have performed for over 40 events by the end of the school year. With the change in the season from spring to summer also brings with it a staffing change for the Rhythm Project.

We are pleased to welcome Sade Constantine, who will take on the position of Associate Director, while Dave Longfellow will be promoted to the Director position. Sophia Subero will be leaving us for pursuits in the Washington D.C. metro area.

Thank you for your continued support of the Rhythm Project. We look forward to seeing you this summer!

Sincerely,

Dave Longfellow

With summer rolling around it was time for the All-Stars annual summer camp to start up again. This year’s camp was held from June 17th-21st and featured steel-pan arranger, composer, and performer Mr. Liam Teague. Mr. Teague who serves as an Associate Professor and Co-Director of the Steel-Band at Northern Illinois University gave an amazing clinic to the students, while teaching them four new arrangements including one original piece. The students retained the music, having full day rehearsals for five days. Learning four songs within five days is no easy task, but with their dedication they pulled it off, performing each of the selections for their parents, as they played with one of steel-pans best.

Congratulations to our graduating seniors !!

Class of 2013:
Charles Cicero and Jacob Barritt
